1 Comments: I don't think I will survive to live my natural life span if the studies taken don't show the truth: some degree of risk is assumed whenever people are exposed to even small amounte of radiation. It's hard enough to grow anything in Las Vegas and surrounding area, and water is more precious than most people like to realize.

2 In Yucca Mt., build a place where solar energy can be converted to electricity and have the toxic waste buried in more suitable storage right where it is, the sooner , the better.

Save money, save time, save lives.
